

Yuhan Sun is a mezzo-soprano, dedicated vocal educator, and opera performer with over 20 years of experience in vocal performance and music education. Holding a master's degree in opera performance from Arizona State University, Yuhan specializes in classical and musical theater vocal techniques, student mentorship, and competition preparation.

During her academic career, Yuhan portrayed roles such as Cherubino in Le nozze di Figaro and Mallika in Lakmé, demonstrating versatility in both lyric and character roles.

As an active member of the National Association of Teachers of Singing (NATS), Yuhan is involved in the newly established NATS China District. Her students have achieved remarkable success in prestigious competitions, including NATS and the United States International Music Competition (USIMC), earning top awards under Yuhan's guidance.

Yuhan's dedication to music education and performance has been recognized through multiple accolades, including awards from the Best Classical Musicians Awards (BCMA), World Classical Music, and the Bach International Music Competition (BIMC).

Yuhan's approach to teaching goes beyond technique; she fosters an environment where students can develop both their vocal abilities and their personal artistic expression. By encouraging each student to explore their unique strengths, Yuhan helps them build confidence, refine their craft, and pursue their musical goals with passion and purpose.
